ARC 5206, Advanced Architectural Theory and Philosophy, 3 credits.

The course engage the student in a philosophical analysis of architecture, exploring how different theories and paradigms express and/or impact the intersection of architecture and philosophy.

Course Goals & Objectives:

To introduce theoretical systems and how they intersect architecture.
To explore contemporary architectural philosophical paradigms.
To understand the diverse systems of thought that shape architectural and urban artifacts.

Student Performance Criterion/a addressed:

None

Topical Outline:

Analytical study of theories (modern) and philosophical perspective importing contemporary architectural thought---See Andrew.

Prerequisites:

Admission to professional program

Textbooks/Learning Resources:

None

Offered:

Fall only; annually

Faculty assigned:

Arleen Pabón-Charneco (F/T)