General Information

A Historical Overview

Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University, founded on October 3, 1887, as the State Normal College for Colored Students, began classes with 15 students and two instructors. Its destiny—to become an institution of higher learning, striving toward even greater heights of academic excellence. Today, Florida A&M University is one of 11 institutions in Florida’s State University System, and excellence—“Excellence with Caring”—remains its goal.

Leading the State Normal College through its infancy were two distinguished citizens and educators. They were Thomas DeSaille Tucker, an outstanding attorney from Pensacola who was selected as the college’s first president, and Thomas Van Rennasaler Gibbs, a state representative from Duval County who was Tucker’s top assistant. In 1891, the college received $7,500 under the Second Morrill Act for agricultural and mechanical arts education; thus, it became Florida’s land grant institution for blacks. The college was moved from Copeland Street (now the site of Florida State University) to its present location, and its name was changed to the State Normal and Industrial College for Colored Students. It was at this new site that President Tucker initiated his plans for institutional growth and development.

In the 1900s, this young institution flourished under the leadership of Nathan B. Young. In 1905, management of the college was transferred from the Board of Education to the Board of Control. This event was significant because it officially designated the college as an institution of higher education. The name was changed in 1909 to Florida Agricultural and Mechanical College for Negroes (FAMC). The following year, with an enrollment of 317 students, the college awarded its first degrees. In spite of a setback caused by a tragic fire which destroyed Duval Hall (the main building which housed the library, administrative offices, cafeteria and other college agencies), progress was made when a gift of $10,000 was presented to the University by Andrew Carnegie for the erection of a new library facility. This facility held the distinction of being the only Carnegie Library located on a black land-grant college. President Young directed the growth of the college, with limited resources and expectations, to a four-year degree-granting institution, offering the Bachelor of Science degree in education, science, home economics, agriculture, and mechanical arts.

Under the administration of John Robert Edward Lee, Sr., Florida A&M College acquired much of the physical and academic image it has today. Buildings were constructed; more land was purchased; more faculty was hired; courses were upgraded, and accreditation was received from several state agencies. By 1944, Florida A&M College had constructed 48 buildings, accumulated 396 acres of land, and had 812 students and 122 staff members. In 1949, under the guidance of William H. Gray, Jr., expansion, along with reorganization, continued; the college obtained an Army ROTC unit, and student enrollment had grown to more than 2,000.

Perhaps the greatest achievement under the presidency of Dr. George W. Gore, Jr., was the elevation of the school to university status. In 1953, the college’s name was changed by legislative action from Florida Agricultural and Mechanical College to Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University (FAMU). Obtaining university status meant restructuring existing programs and designing new academic offerings to meet the demands of producing quality students at the professional and graduate levels. Between 1953 and 1968, the Schools of Pharmacy, Law, Graduate Studies, and Nursing were created.

During the years 1950-68, the university experienced its most rapid growth. Twenty-three buildings were erected, with construction and renovation costs totaling more than $14 million. These facilities included: the Dairy Barn, Faculty Duplexes, Law Wing of Coleman Library; Gibbs, Tucker, and Truth Halls; Agriculture and Home Economics Building (Perry Paige), Student Union Building, Demonstration School Building and Cafeteria; Health and Physical Education Building, Music and Fine Arts Complex, High School Gymnasium and Stadium. The hospital was completed and operative. The university’s staff was increased by more than 500. At this time, the four-quarter plan was implemented, and the school became the first Negro institution to become a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. Enrollment increased to more than 3,500.

With Dr. Benjamin L. Perry, Jr., at the helm, the 1970s brought further growth to Florida A&M University. FAMU experienced a decade of rapid transition during a time when federal laws were demanding a desegregated unitary system. His administration is credited with the preservation of FAMU’s autonomy. In 1971, FAMU was recognized as a full partner in the nine-university, public higher education system of Florida. The program and academic areas within the institution were extended to include the Black Archives Research Center and Museum, established as a state repository for black history and culture; the Division of Sponsored Research; the program in medical sciences, in conjunction with FSU and the University of Florida; the development of the School of Architecture; a Naval ROTC unit; establishment of the cooperative programs in agriculture; and a degree-granting program in Afro-American Studies. Enrollment at FAMU increased from 3,944 (1969) to 5,024 (1970). The university was reorganized into academic areas instead of departments. The physical plants were improved by the construction of the Women’s Complex (apartment type dormitory), Clifton Dyson Pharmacy Building, new poultry building and dairy cattle resting shed and renovation of University Commons, Coleman Library, Tucker Hall and the FAMU Hospital into the presently named, Foote-Hilyer Administration Center.

The 1980s served as a model for productive development at Florida A&M University. Under the administration of Dr. Walter L. Smith, the university grew to eleven schools and colleges, and a division of graduate studies, research, and continuing education. In 1984, the university was granted the authority to offer its first Doctor of Philosophy degree, the Ph.D. in Pharmacology. The ‘80s also saw the expansion of the Gaither Athletic Center, which includes the construction of a new Women’s Athletic Complex equipped with a track, an Olympic pool, men’s and women’s weight training rooms, and softball and baseball fields. Bragg Memorial Stadium was renovated and expanded to provide seating for some 25,500 spectators, and a modern field house was erected. The old laundry was converted into the Industrial Education Classroom-Laboratory. New facilities were constructed to house the Schools of Allied Health Sciences, Architecture, Business and Industry, and Nursing. Construction and renovation projects amounted to more than $34 million. Under the leadership of Dr. Smith, the university launched the Centennial Celebration Fund for establishment of a university endowment.

In 1985, construction of a new corridor of history was begun as Dr. Frederick S. Humphries became the eighth president of Florida A&M University. Under his leadership, FAMU experienced significant growth and unsurpassed accomplishments. President Humphries had the distinction of presiding over the University’s Centennial Celebration: October 2, 1986-December 31, 1987. This commemorative event, which centered upon the theme, “A Legacy to Preserve-A Future to Design,” was initiated with the president’s inauguration, highlighted with many activities (lectures, concerts, convocations, etc.) and honors, and culminated with the burial of a time capsule.

Dr. Humphries’ unique administrative initiatives heightened the appeal for FAMU to high school students, parents, and other members of the public. Some of the achievements made during President Humphries’ administration include the following: Florida A&M University received national recognition for record-breaking enrollment. In 1985, enrollment was 5,100. By 1992 these statistics showed total enrollment had nearly doubled with at 9,551. The enrollment for the 1998/99 academic year reached approximately 12,000.
In addition to increased enrollment, the University consistently ranked nationally among the top five colleges and universities for enrolling National Achievement finalists. Due to an aggressive and competitive campaign to attract more talented students, FAMU climbed steadily from fourth place in 1989 to first place (1992, 1995, and 1997), and second place (1993 and 1994), surpassing institutions such as Harvard, Yale, and Stanford. Black Issues in Higher Education also cited FAMU, in 1999, for awarding more baccalaureates to African Americans than any institution in the nation.

FAMU successfully completed requirements for establishing eight Eminent Scholars Chairs through the State Major Gifts Program: the Warner-Lambert Chair in the College of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences; the Garth Reeves and the Knight Foundation Chairs in the School of Journalism and Graphic Communication; the Anheuser-Busch, Centennial and Financial Services Chairs in the School of Business and Industry; the Carrie Meek Chair in the College of Education and the Foster Edmonds Chair in the College of Arts and Sciences.

At the 1989 Spring Commencement Exercises, the University awarded its first Ph.D. degree to Hyacinth Chi Akunne in the College of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences. The University presented its second doctor of philosophy degree to Fred Foreman (FAMU/FSU College of Engineering) during the 1995 Spring Commencement Exercises. Presently, the University has 11 programs that offer the doctoral degree. They are: pharmaceutical sciences; physics; biomedical, chemical, mechanical, civil, industrial and electrical engineering; educational leadership; environmental science; and entomology - a cooperative program with the University of Florida.

The FAMU Marching “100” Band, under the direction of Dr. William P. Foster, Director of Bands, was invited by the French government to participate in the Bastille Day Parade as the official representative from the United States. This event was held in celebration of the Bicentennial of the French Revolution. The Marching “100” continues to perfect its legacy of excellence, which has resulted in it being labeled as the “Best Marching Band in the Nation” by Sports Illustrated (August, 1992). The band received national recognition, in January 1993, when it performed in the 52nd Inauguration Parade in Washington, D.C., by invitation of President-Elect William “Bill” Clinton.

Tremendous efforts have been made to upgrade facilities and construct new buildings during the past decade. Completed projects include construction of the Benjamin L. Perry General Classroom and Science Research Building; expansion of the School of Business and Industry’s east and west wings; the FAMU/FSU College of Engineering; the new College of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences building; expansion of the School of Allied Health Sciences; a new Student Services Center; a 400-car parking garage; a 360-bed expansion at Palmetto Housing; remodeling and expansion of the Foster-Tanner Complex; and construction of the Frederick S. Humphries Science Research Center. Recently completed projects include the new School of Journalism and Graphic Communication’s building and the Campus Recreation Center. Projects currently under construction include the FAMU Developmental Research School (FAMU-DRS), the Multipurpose Gymnasium and the renovation of the Commons Building.

Most significantly, during the celebration of its 110th Anniversary, Florida A&M University was selected as the 1997-98 College of the Year by TIME Magazine-Princeton Review. FAMU was selected as the winner from among six finalist including: DePaul University, Chicago; DePauw University, Greencastle, Indiana; the University of Iowa, Iowa, City, Iowa; University of California, Los Angeles; Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut; and the University of California State System. FAMU was the first institution in the country to receive this honor from this magazine.

In January 2002, Henry Lewis III, PharmD, Dean of the College of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences, was appointed interim president by the Board of Trustees.
May 17, 2002, the Board of Trustees named Fred Gainous, Ed.D., an alumnus, the ninth president of FAMU. Prior to his presidency, Dr. Gainous was the chancellor of the State Community College System in Alabama.

On December 14, 2004, the Florida A&M University Board of Trustees named Castell Vaughn Bryant, Ed.D., interim president.

In February 2007, Dr. James Ammons, then chancellor of North Carolina Central University in Durham, N.C., was named the 10th president of Florida A&M University. Dr. Ammons served as provost and vice president for Academic Affairs for Florida A&M University from October, 1995 until becoming chancellor of North Carolina Central University in 2001. Dr. Ammons commenced his presidency at Florida A&M University on July 2, 2007.

FAMU can credit much of its present academic stature to the leadership of its distinguished presidents: Thomas DeSaille Tucker (1887-1901); Nathan B. Young (1901-1923); John Robert Edward Lee, Sr. (1924-1944); William H. Gray, Jr. (1944-1949); George W. Gore, Jr. (1950-1968); Benjamin L. Perry, Jr. (1968-1977); Walter L. Smith (1977-1985); Frederick S. Humphries (1985-2001); Fred Gainous (2002-2004); and Dr. James H. Ammons (2007-present); and acting presidents: W.H.A. Howard (1923-24); J.B. Bragg (1944); and H. Manning Efferson (1949-50); Henry Lewis III, interim president (2002); and Castell Vaughn Bryant, interim president (2004).

For more than 120 years, Florida A&M University has served the citizens of the State of Florida and the nation through its provision of preeminent educational programs...programs which were the building blocks of a legacy of academic excellence with caring. FAMU, “Florida’s Opportunity University,” is committed to meeting the challenges and needs of future generations.

DIVISION OF ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

The Office of the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs has the overall responsibility for the growth, development and expansion of the various academic programs, teaching and research activities, educational support agencies and the effective and efficient administration of public service.

Office Location:
301 Foote-Hilyer Administration Center
1700 Lee Hall Drive
Tallahassee, Florida 32307-3200

Tel: (850) 599-3276  Fax: (850) 561-2551

Academic Advising
Seeking academic advising is crucial to a student’s success in selecting an appropriate academic major, making timely progress through the required curriculum, and graduating. Every student is provided advisement assistance by an academic advisor. Students who have not declared a major will be advised through the School of General Studies.

Academic Grievances
The purpose of an academic grievance is to give students a fair review and an opportunity to be heard. Students are normally expected to follow the procedures established by the college, school and/or academic unit in which they are pursuing a course of study; however, academic grievances regarding a course grade must be filed with the college, school and/or academic unit in which the course is offered.

Each college, school and/or academic unit within the University must establish internal procedures for addressing student grievances pertaining to academic matters. Academic grievance procedures shall be available in the Office of the Dean of the respective college or school, and in the office of the appropriate officer in charge of an academic unit.

Note: A uniform academic behavior standards policy is currently being developed, and will be available during Fall Semester 2008. For further information, contact the Office of the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs at (850) 599-3276.

University Catalog
The FAMU Catalog provides information about the programs of study, course descriptions, degree requirements, University calendar, admissions and related matters, registration and general regulations, financial information, academic affairs, student services, and much more. The catalog is the primary source of information crucial to your academic success and is available in the Admissions Office, Room G-9, Foote-Hilyer Administration Center.

Honors Program
The mission of the Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University Honors Program is to provide a series of challenging courses and extracurricular activities for undergraduate students who excel academically.
The major objectives of the program are to encourage academic excellence and to provide a more challenging academic experience for high achieving students.

The program stresses four major areas of concentration: scholarship, leadership, community service and cultural enrichment. Students are encouraged to develop their intellectual, critical thinking, problem solving and ethical leadership skills through their involvement in these areas.

The Office of International Education and Development

The Office of International Education and Development (OIED) is responsible for coordinating the University’s international endeavors, namely: help foreign students obtain proper visas; systematize the employment of foreign nationals; organize study abroad and exchange programs; seek collaborative international grants; develop and implement international projects; facilitate the preparation and maintenance of all international agreements; prepare U.S. students and faculty to travel abroad; maintain a record of university faculty and staff traveling abroad; and prepare students and faculty for global competencies. The Office also serves as liaison between international students/scholars and officials at the U.S. Department of Homeland Security, U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services, and the U.S. Department of State. Its goals and objectives are met through the following OIED components.

International Students and Scholars Services

This unit has official responsibility for preparing and advising international students and scholars attending Florida A&M University on maintaining their U.S. government’s immigration status while enrolled and/or employed through the following support services:

- academic advisement and referrals
- issuing of immigration forms I-20 and DS-2019
- providing extensions of forms I-20 and DS-2019
- practical training on employment policies and U.S. taxes
- obtaining social security numbers
- ensuring international insurance compliance
- processing change of status and reinstatement, and
- providing formal letters of invitation

Education Abroad and Exchanges

Professional international educators provide avenues to enhance our students’ personal and professional development through meaningful international experiences that focus on learning other languages while acquiring knowledge of other countries and their diverse cultures. The staff works directly with faculty to coordinate education abroad experiences and to internationalize curricula content that prepare students for living and working in international and multicultural communities. Education abroad experiences for faculty and students include:
• semester or year-long study abroad programs
• departmental sponsored semester exchanges
• short-term service-learning and research projects
• international internships (US Department of State or USAID)
• teaching abroad (usually English as Second Language)
• faculty curriculum development seminars

Trained coordinators assist students in the study abroad application process and in securing competitive study abroad scholarships and internships. They also assist faculty and graduate students in applying for Fulbright fellowships and exchanges; as well as help faculty infuse international content, short-term research or field study into the classroom experience.

International Research and Development
This unit has the primary responsibility for assisting the colleges, schools, and institutes in the development and implementation of international research curriculum projects. It promotes the development of collaborative and interdisciplinary projects that increase international involvement of faculty in research, exchanges, professional development, and other partnerships.

In support of internationalizing the curriculum, this unit collaborates with university colleges, schools and institutes to expand international education and research through the development of linkages with international universities and governments. Trained staff works with the General Counsel’s office to facilitate the development of international initiatives through Memoranda of Agreements or Understanding proposed by the college, school, or institute administrators. OIED serves as the designated University custodian of all international agreements.

This unit has responsibility for screening and processing all non-immigrant employment petitions for foreign nationals on the H-1B temporary specialty employment visa or the J-1 exchange visa to promote educational and cultural exchanges. This unit facilitates and promotes compliance of foreign employment policies for non-immigrant and immigrant visa holders.

Diplomat-In-Residence Program
The Diplomat-In-Residence (DIR) is a senior Foreign Service Officer who is appointed and funded by the U. S. Department of State. This person is responsible for increasing awareness of international issues and employment experiences related to U.S. foreign affairs; recruiting students for internships, fellowships and foreign service careers; and serving as a resource person on foreign affairs in classrooms throughout North and Central Florida and Southern Georgia. The DIR works with the OIED staff to coordinate State Department sponsored videoconferences on relevant world issues; makes embassy contacts abroad for visiting faculty and students; provides technical assistance for students preparing for the State Department's Foreign Service Officer Test; and advises the Model United Nations Program.

Libraries Services

The mission of the Florida A&M University Libraries is to provide information, technology, resources and services to our users whether on campus or across the globe. These services and resources will be provided in such a way that we positively meet and exceed all expectations.

The University Libraries consist of the main Samuel H. Testing and Evaluation

The general purpose of the Test Service Bureau is to facilitate service, and student support in relation to testing and evaluation activities.

FAMU is a leading institution for administering national tests through National Testing Programs: such as, the Allied Health Professions Admission Test (AHPAT), the American College Test (ACT), the Graduate Record Examinations (GRE), the Pharmacy College Admission Test (PCAT), the Scholastic Assessment Test (SAT), and various academic skills assessments of the PRAXIS Series. These tests are used for admission at either the undergraduate or graduate levels. The ACT and SAT National Tests are used for general admission purposes. The cut scores for the ACT are English - 17, Mathematics - 19, and Reading - 18. The cut scores for the SAT are Math (Quan) - 440 and Reading (Verbal) - 440. The Bureau serves the tri-state area of Florida, Georgia and Alabama for professional and licensure testing.

Among the many integrated services of the Bureau, there are five opportunities to reduce the length of time it takes to complete a degree program by obtaining credit via examination, through programs such as:

- The Advanced Placement Programs (AP) - sponsored by the College Board, provides students with the opportunity to complete college-level studies during secondary school.
- The College-Level Examination Program (CLEP) - an exam where students can receive college credit for learning outside the college classroom.
- International Baccalaureate Program (IB) - from the General Certificate of Education Advanced Level (A-level G.C.E.), awards credits for student's prior academic course work from a recognized institution in their parent country.
- DANTES (Military Exam) - published by the American Council on Education (the use of college level credits based on military experience). DANTES exams are not given on campus.
- Dual Enrollment - this program allows high school students to earn college level credits at the university.
Another responsibility of the Test Service Bureau is the Course and Teacher Evaluation of Faculty by students. These evaluations are conducted annually during the Fall and Spring semesters. The basic purpose of the evaluations is to reflect the relationship between faculty and students in a formal teaching environment. However, testing for student placement, student advancement and scoring examinations given by professors in the classroom remain the overriding function of the Test Service Bureau.

Tips for Students (Nine Steps to Getting Good Grades in College)

Step One – Attend Every Class. If you want to get good grades in college, you must attend every class—not almost every class—every class.

Step Two – Be Organized. Save all computer files on disk or jump drive. Keep all returned papers, quizzes, and tests. Get phone numbers of fellow rattler classmates. “We are what we repeatedly do. Excellence, then, is not an act, but a habit.” – Aristotle

Step Three – Manage Your Time Well. Do not overextend yourself, plan ahead, be organized, make efficient use of your time, and do not become a professional extracurricular student.

Step Four – Be Successful in the Classroom. Learn how to adapt to different instructors. Be prepared and on time for each class. Sit in front of the class whenever possible.

Step Five – Take good notes. Be an active listener. Take notes that are easy to read. Go over notes as soon as possible.

Step Six – Know How to Read a Textbook. Scan by reading subtitles, words in bold and italic print, summaries, charts, and review questions. Read with purpose and review by scanning the material to check your comprehension.

Step Seven – Study Smart. Find a good place to study. Organize your study time and know your learning style. Know how to memorize and remember information.

Step Eight – Reduce Test Anxiety. While a little anxiety before a test improves concentration and alertness, excessive worry, or test anxiety, can lower one’s test scores.

Step Nine – Use Available Services. Computer Labs, Academic Advisor, Career Center, Counseling Center, Disability Services, Honors Programs, Library, etc...

Student Records Management Procedures

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)

The Purpose
The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, most often referred to as “FERPA”, deals specifically with the educational records of students, affording them certain rights with respect to those records. For purposes of definition, education records are those records which are:

1) Directly related to a student and
2) Maintained by an institution or a party acting for the institution.

FERPA gives students who reach the age of 18 or who attend a postsecondary institution the right to inspect and review their own education records. Furthermore, students have other rights, including the right to request amendment of records and to have some control over the disclosure of personally identifiable information from these records.

FERPA applies to the education records of persons who are or have been in attendance in post secondary institutions, including students in cooperative and correspondence study programs. FERPA does not apply to records of applicants for admission who are denied acceptance or, if accepted, do not attend an institution. Furthermore, rights are not given by FERPA to students enrolled in one component of an institution who seek to be admitted in another component of an institution.

The Policy
Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University (FAMU) shall comply with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA, also known as the Buckley Amendment) – 20 U.S.C. ~ §1232g – of 1974, which gives enrolled students the right to:

1) Review and inspect their education records;
2) Challenge and seek to amend education records that a student believes are inaccurate or misleading;
3) Consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in their educational records, except to the extent that FERPA allows disclosures without consent; and
4) Complain to the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged violations by FAMU of any such rights.

Pursuant to FERPA requirements, some personally identifiable student information, designated by law as “directory information,” may be released to third parties by FAMU without prior consent of a student unless the student files a written request with the FAMU Office of the Registrar to restrict directory information access.

FAMU has designated the following as directory information:

- The name of a student who is in attendance or who has been in attendance
- The local, home address of a present or former student
- The telephone number of a present or former student
• Date and Place of Birth of a present of former student
• The major field of study of a present or former student
• Dates of attendance
• Enrollment Status
• Participation in Officially Recognized collegiate sports
• Weight and height of athletes
• Degrees and academic honor awards received and pertinent dates
• Most recent educational institutions attended prior to FAMU

The following information is not considered directory information and may not be released or disclosed in any way (except to a school official with a legitimate interest, or to a third party with signed and dated consent from the student or former student):

• Student Identification Number
• Social Security Number
• Ethnicity/Nationality
• Gender

An enrolled student may select Privacy (refuse to permit disclosure of “directory information”). To do so, the student must notify the Office of the Registrar in writing if he/she refuses to permit the University to disclose such information. The University will not release any further disclosures of directory information about the student without the student’s prior written consent except to the extent authorized by FERPA or other State or Federal laws.

All custodians of a student’s education records and all University employees/agents shall comply with FERPA and follow strict practice that information contained in a student’s education record is confidential and shall not be disclosed without the prior written consent of the student except as otherwise provided by FERPA. FERPA exceptions are outlined in the policy and procedures herein.

Regarding the disposition of records held pertaining to a deceased student, in accordance with FERPA, it is the policy of FAMU that the privacy interests of an individual expire with that individual’s death.

FAMU publishes annually a notice of primary rights for enrolled students.

All University employees who manage or have direct or indirect access to student education records are held responsible for reading and understanding the policy. Furthermore, all employees who manage or have direct or indirect access to student education records are responsible for following security practices established by the University, Colleges, or departments.

The University Registrar has been designated as the FERPA Compliance Officer for the University. Further information about FAMU’s policy and procedures with respect to privacy of student records may be obtained from the Office of the Registrar.

(a) The student shall have five workdays from the date of the notice to request in writing an emergency hearing at which the student may show cause why his or her continued presence on the University campus is not a threat pursuant to Section (13) of the Student Code of Conduct.

(b) The emergency hearing shall be held within five workdays of receipt of the written request from the student for an emergency hearing. The emergency hearing shall not abrogate the right of the student to request in writing a regular (non-emergency) hearing on the merits of the case, i.e., whether the student committed the alleged offense or offenses under the Student Code of Conduct. The written request form the student for a regular (non-emergency) hearing on the merits of the case must also comply with the specified time period for requesting a regular (non-emergency) hearing as stated in the notice to the student.

(26) The hearing body, ad hoc committee or University Judicial Officer shall afford the accused student with due process as, provided by FAMU Regulation 2.013, and/or Board of Governors Regulation 6C-6.0105(5). The regulations or codes implementing the due process provisions as well as other matters referenced in said rules but not included herein shall be printed in the student handbook, the FANG, under the section entitled “Student Rights, Responsibilities and Code of Conduct.”
(27) Students who have a change of address after registration must file a change of address form at the Office of the University Registrar and/or via the Our FAMU. All notices, decisions and outcomes of judicial matters connected with the disciplinary process will be mailed to the student’s last known local address as filed with the Registrar’s Office and/or via Our FAMU. All notices, decisions and outcomes of judicial matters connected with the disciplinary process will be mailed to the student’s permanent home address when there is no local address furnished to the Office of the Registrar and/or via Our FAMU by the Accused Student. This method shall constitute proper notification to the Accused Student.

(28) Disciplinary hearings shall be conducted in accordance with the following guidelines:
(a) All hearings shall be closed to the public unless required by law.
(b) The Complainant, Accused Student and his/her advisor, if any, shall be allowed to attend the entire portion of the hearing at which information is received, excluding deliberation. Admission of any person to the hearing shall be at the discretion of the University Judicial Officer or chairperson of the hearing body.
(c) In judicial hearings involving more than one Accused Student, the University Judicial Officer or the chairperson, in his or her discretion, may permit the hearing concerning each student to be conducted separately or jointly.
(d) The Complainant and the Accused Student have the right to be assisted by an advisor they choose, at their own expense. The advisor may be an attorney. The Complainant and/or the Accused Student are responsible for presenting his or her own information and, therefore advisors are not permitted to speak or participate directly in any hearing before a judicial hearing body. A student should select an advisor whose schedule allows attendance at the scheduled date and time of the hearing because delays will not normally be allowed due to the scheduling conflicts of an advisor. The student must provide, in writing, to the University Judicial Officer or the chairperson of the hearing body, the name, mailing or email address, and phone number of his/her advisor at least three workdays days prior to the hearing date.
(e) The Complainant and the Accused Student may arrange for witnesses to present pertinent information to the hearing body. The University will try to arrange the attendance of possible witnesses who are members of the University community, if reasonably possible and who are identified by the Complainant and/or the Accused Student at least three workdays prior to the judicial hearing. Witnesses will provide information to and answer questions from the hearing body and the Accused Student. No witness may be compelled to provide self-incriminating information.
(f) If the Accused Student fails to appear at the hearing after being properly notified, the hearing body may hear the case on the basis of evidence accumulated as a result of witnesses and shall notify the Accused Student of the decision. In the absence of the Accused Student, the plea of not responsible shall be entered on the student’s behalf by the chairperson of the hearing body.
(g) An Accused student may request only one postponement of a judicial hearing by contacting in writing the University Judicial Officer at least three workdays prior to the hearing. Postponement of the hearing shall be at the discretion of the University Judicial Officer or his/her designee.
(h) Witnesses shall not serve as advisors at any judicial hearing. At the time of the hearing, an automatic postponement shall be granted if the composition requirements of the hearing body are not met.
(i) If any member of the hearing body feels that he or she had previous contact with the case or with the students involved so that a fair judgment cannot be rendered, the member must request that he or she not serve for the hearing. The Accused Student may request that any member of the hearing body be excused whenever the student can show a bias on the part of the member. The chairperson of the hearing body will decide on such challenges and, if appropriate, ask the member to excuse him or herself. If the chairperson of the hearing body is challenged by the student, the hearing body will decide by a majority vote whether or not the chairperson should be requested to excuse him or herself, notwithstanding that the chairperson does not vote on whether the Accused Student is responsible or not responsible for violating the Code.
(j) An Accused student may be diverted from the disciplinary process or hearing if prior to or during the disciplinary process or hearing, it is determined by Associate Vice President for Student Affairs pursuant to Sections (6-13) of University Regulation 2.007, Voluntary and Involuntary Withdrawal, that the Accused student has a mental disorder and the objectionable behavior appears to be a result of the mental disorder.

(k) Pertinent records, exhibits, and written statements may be accepted as information for consideration at the discretion of the chairperson of the hearing body.

(l) All procedural questions are subject to the final decision of the chairperson of the hearing body.

(m) After the portion of the judicial hearing concludes in which all pertinent information has been received, the hearing body shall determine by a majority vote whether the Accused Student is responsible or not responsible for violating each section of the Code which the Accused Student is charged. The chairperson of the hearing body cannot vote.

(n) Formal rules of process, procedure, and/or technical rules of evidence, such as are applied in criminal or civil court proceedings, are not used in Student Code of Conduct hearings.

(o) The burden of proof in all judicial hearings shall be on the accuser. A “preponderance of evidence” shall constitute the burden of proof standard in all judicial hearings.

(p) The University Judicial Officer and/or the chairperson of the hearing body, under extraordinary circumstances, may accommodate concerns for the personal safety, well-being, and/or fears of confrontation of the Complainant, Accused Student, and/or witnesses during the hearing by providing separate waiting rooms and/or by permitting participation, when feasible, by video conferencing, videotape, audio tape, or other means.

(q) The disciplinary hearing body is comprised of faculty members, staff members, administrators and students. The composition is variable from 3 to 5 persons, depending upon the nature of the violation. At least one of the members must be a student.

(r) The above guidelines for conducting a judicial hearing are not exhaustive. Therefore, the University Judicial Officer may adopt additional guidelines for the conduct of judicial hearings that are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Code. Such procedural guidelines must be approved by the Vice President for Student Affairs or his/her designee and must be in writing and made available to the Accused Student and all witnesses at least three workdays prior to the hearing.

(29) Victim Rights- Victim is defined as the person harmed by a violation of the Code by the Accused Student. Victims of violations of the Code have the following rights in accordance with all federal and state laws:

(a) To have an advisor of the alleged victim’s choice accompany him/her when presenting information to the hearing body and to any other relevant meetings held throughout the disciplinary process.

(b) To submit a victim impact statement to the hearing body. This information may be used only in the sanctioning phase of deliberations, if the Accused Student is found responsible for the violations/charges. If the Accused Student appeals the decision on the basis of severity of the sanction imposed, he/she will have the right to view the victim’s impact statement upon written request.

(c) To have unrelated past behavior excluded from the hearing. The University Judicial Officer or chairperson of the hearing body will decide if such information is unrelated.

(d) To submit questions to the Judicial Office at least three workdays prior to the hearing. The University Judicial Officer will decide whether the questions are relevant and should be presented at the hearing.

(e) To be present throughout the hearings, or portions thereof, at the discretion of the University Judicial Officer.

(f) To have personal property returned to them if in the current possession of the University. The determination of when this property may be returned is left to the University Judicial Officer and/or University Department of Law Enforcement.
(g) To be notified of the outcome, including both the decisions and the sanctions of the disciplinary process.

(h) For victims of sexual battery, refer to additional rights noted under Section (10) r above.

(30) Unless specifically stated otherwise herein, the provisions of this Code should be read and interpreted broadly, and are not intended to define misconduct in exhaustive terms.
