Course Description

Issues and problems concerning law and public education; developing competence in legal research; working with questions of fact, value, and policy.

Course Purpose

Educators must know the laws that govern the operation and conduct of their organization as they face a highly litigious society. This course is a study of the relevant legal principles that affect the operation, organization, and administration of American schools. In this course, practicing teachers, prospective teachers, as well as practicing and prospective administrators will gain knowledge about legal issues that will help them in effectively performing their professional duties within the boundaries of constitutional, statutory, and case law.

Conceptual Framework

The Conceptual Framework in the Professional Education Unit (PEU) at Florida A&M University is an integrated approach to providing educational experiences that result in exemplary professional educators. The Framework is comprised of six themes with the... mission of developing high quality classroom teachers, administrators and support personnel. The term “exemplary” refers to the kind of graduates the PEU strives to produce. The figure below provides a diagram of the Exemplary Professional Conceptual Framework.

Overall Goals of the Course

1. Explain the legal system structure, its component parts, the court system, precedent, relationship between the legal and educational systems, and role of the federal and state governments in education.

2. Explain the relationship between the church and public schools (specifically prayer in schools and equal access) within the context of common, statutory, and constitutional law.

3. Explain the legal rights and responsibilities of students and parents under federal and state case, common, statutory, and constitutional law.

4. Explain the legal rights and responsibilities of ESE students and parents under federal and state case, common, statutory, and constitutional law.

5. Identify and explain types, causes, and preventive legal and administrative strategies involving torts, defamation, and governmental immunity within the context of common, statutory, and constitutional law.

6. Explain the legal rights and responsibilities of teachers under federal and state case common, statutory and constitutional law.

7. Explain the employment rights and protections due teachers under collective bargaining.
Specific Behavioral Objectives

Candidates will be able to:

1. Investigate the legal framework affecting public schools, and discover the boundaries of constitutional, statutory, and case law for teachers and administrators.

2. Analyze seminal cases in educational law and develop briefs on them to better understand the legal principles involved.

3. Apply relevant legal principles to hypothetical cases presented in the in-basket exercises for each chapter.

4. Interview an attorney involved in educational law to investigate and report on the most current legal challenges that face today’s schools.

5. Assess the ethical considerations involved in making sound and legally defensible decisions that affect students and school personnel under their authority with the in-basket exercises.

6. Synthesize their readings and research on school law through the development and production of a research paper on an educational law topic.

Teaching Methods

The traditional case method and cooperative learning techniques are combined to form the central teaching methodology to be used in this course. Students are required, in the traditional case method, to review concepts and cases covering the first, fourth and fourteenth amendments to the U.S. Constitution; discrimination; educational entitlements; and tort liability. While the basic principles of law are applied to diverse factual situations and conclusions are reached, hypothetical scenarios are also provided to focus on the educational perspective of each case.

The cooperative learning technique is used to permit groups of students to collaboratively explore and present a series of cases covering a single legal concept (e.g., The First Amendment) with the focus being on stimulating class discussion. This method shifts the focus from the teacher being the dispenser of knowledge to becoming a guide who assist the students in understanding and applying a range of perspective in addressing legal problems associated with the school.

Course Evaluation

Evaluation in the course will be based on professional attitude, class attendance, class participation, written and oral assignments, readings, on-line assignments, examinations, and projects. The quality of the work you submit counts in the consideration of your grades. Grades are determined by the quality of student performance.

Rubric

Favorable performance is exemplified in activity(ies), product(s), response(s) that exceed or meet established criteria, which demonstrates candidates’ acquisition of knowledge, skills, and dispositions relative to institutional, national, state, and program standards. A favorable performance designation is assigned to products, which demonstrate a significant presence of (a) higher order thinking skills, analysis, synthesis, and evaluation, (b) mastery of a specific writing style, American Psychological Association, (c) continuity of ideas within paragraphs, (d) appropriate grammatical construction, spelling, punctuation, and word selection, (e) creativity, and (f) a significant understanding and use of theory and blending of theory with practice. Products meeting these criteria will be determined as “F” (Favorable) products and assigned a numerical score in the range of 90-100.
Acceptable performance is exemplified in activity(ies), product(s), response(s) that approach or approximate established criteria, which demonstrate candidates’ acquisition of knowledge, skills, and dispositions relative to institutional, national, state, and program standards, but does not meet the criteria for favorable designation. An Acceptable performance designation is assigned to products, which demonstrate vague attempts at including (a) higher order thinking skills, analysis, synthesis, and evaluation, (b) mastery of a specific writing style, American Psychological Association, (c) continuity of ideas within paragraphs, (d) appropriate grammatical construction, spelling, punctuation, and word selection, (e) creativity, and (f) a significant understanding and use of theory and blending theory with practice. Products meeting these criteria will be determined as “A” (Acceptable) products and assigned a numerical score in the range of 80-89.

Marginal performance is exemplified in activity(ies), product(s), response(s) that do not exceed, meet, or approach or proximate established criteria, which demonstrate candidates’ acquisition of knowledge, skills, and dispositions relative to institutional, national, state, and program standards. A Marginal performance designation is assigned to products, which demonstrate minimal inclusion of (a) higher order thinking skills, analysis, synthesis, and evaluation, (b) mastery of a specific writing style, American Psychological Association, (c) continuity of ideas within paragraphs, (d) appropriate grammatical construction, spelling, punctuation, and word selection, (e) creativity, and (f) a significant understanding and use of theory and blending of theory with practice. Products meeting these criteria will be determined as “M” (Marginal) products and assigned a numerical score in the range of 70-79.

Unacceptable performance is exemplified in activity(ies), product(s), response(s) that do not exceed, meet, or approach or proximate established criteria, which demonstrate candidates’ acquisition of knowledge, skills, and dispositions relative to institutional, national, state, and program standards. An Unacceptable performance designation is assigned to products which demonstrate a lack of (a) higher order thinking skills, analysis, synthesis, and evaluation, (b) mastery of a specific writing style, American Psychological Association, (c) continuity of ideas within paragraphs, and (d) appropriate grammatical construction, spelling, punctuation, and word selection, (e) creativity, and (f) a significant understanding and use of theory and blending theory with practice. Products meeting these criteria will be determined as “U” (Unacceptable) products and assigned a numerical score in the range of 60-69.

Assessments/Assignments

Assignments have been coded to specific competencies and skills determined by the Educational Leadership Constituent Consortium = ELCC, Florida Educational Leadership Examination Competencies and Skills – 2008 = FELE C&S, Florida Principal Leadership Standards = FPLS, and the Professional Education Unit Conceptual Framework Standards = CF. Grades in the course are based on satisfactory performance on several assessment measures. The quality of your work and the products you submit counts. Your work should always reflect substantial investment of time and reflection. It should be of superior quality. Grades in this course will be based on the following assignments:

. All students are expected to maintain absolute integrity and a high standard of individual honor in academic work as defined in the Florida A&M University Graduate Code of Student Conduct.

. Preparation for and participation in discussions and activities is an integral part of this course and is subject to individual, group, and instructor evaluations as part of the final grade.

. Assigned Readings are the responsibility of each student (textbook, professional journals, websites).

Course Policies

All assignments submitted for consideration of a grade are to be word processed and are due on the date and time specified in the syllabus or by course professor. A substantial penalty (20%) will be assessed for all assignments not turned in on the specified date and time. Additional penalties will continue for each week that assignment is not submitted. Plagiarism is unethical and unacceptable. Essays, papers, tests and other similar requirements must be the work of the student submitting them. When direct quotations are used, they must be indicated, and when ideas of another are incorporated in the body of an assignment they must be appropriately acknowledge. APA style should be utilized for papers assigned for grading purposes. Supervisory responsibilities for teachers and administrators are a part of public education.

Punctuality is a positive characteristic of teachers and administrators and desired behavior in schools and this class. Students are expected to be punctual (on time) and attend all classes and contribute to the learning process. Class attendance will be taken each class period. Students tardy for class three times will result in an absence. Two absences will result in a letter grade reduction for the semester. Consultation with course professor needs to occur if a student is absent more than two class meetings. The course grade will be negatively impacted if a student exceeds three unexcused absences.
Cell phones, Blackberries, and PDAs should be turned off or placed on vibrate during the entire class period.

Dispositions: As a component of student assessment, the College of Education has instituted a system for monitoring the professional dispositions: Professionalism, Effective Communication, Respectful Behavior, Ethical Behavior, and Reflective Behavior. If a problem arises during the semester, a disposition feedback form may be completed by an instructor or school personnel and turned in to the student’s department chair. The severity of the behavioral deficiency will influence the chairperson’s handling of the situation. (See Assessment Instrument for Dispositions and Disposition Feedback Form for more detailed information. This policy includes provisions for professional dress, attendance, punctuality, use of cell phones, etc.).
