Master of Applied Social Sciences (MASS) Program

The Department of History, Political Science, Public Administration, African American Studies, and Criminal Justice participate in the interdisciplinary degree, Master of Applied Social Sciences (MASS). The unique feature of this applied, interdisciplinary program is its flexibility. Building upon a required core of three courses (9 semester hours), the student, in consultation with an advisor, may design the remainder of the program to address his/her own particular interests. The degree is designed for those who wish to pursue further graduate work in the social sciences and for those who wish to work immediately following completion of the MASS Degree.

- For the full-time student, the course of study will likely span two semesters plus one summer, totaling 33 hours. Some students may be required to take several prerequisites before commencing with their particular program.
- Evening classes are designed so that students may be gainfully employed while enrolled in the Program.

- The admission requirements are:
  - A baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution and
  - 3.0 GPA or better in last 60 hours of undergraduate.
- In addition to submitting an application for admission, each student must also submit
  - Three (3) signed letters of recommendation
  - Biographical Sketch (Personal Statement) - 1,000 word minimum
  - Resume
  - GRE Scores (required for admission)
- All documents must be submitted online through the Florida A&M University website. https://www.applyweb.com/famug/

- No decision can be made regarding your admission until your file is complete.

Regular Application Deadlines:
Spring - October 1
Summer - March 1
Fall - June 1
