Fellowship and Business Leadership Program for Students Interested in Graduate Business Programs

The University of California’s Summer Institute for Emerging Managers and Leaders (SIEML) is an 11-day immersive business education and leadership experience for sophomores and juniors currently enrolled at Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs) and Hispanic Serving Institutions (HSIs). SIEML was launched in 2012 and now has over 270 alumni - some of whom may be current students or alumni of your institution.
SIEML’s objective as a systemwide initiative is to increase the enrollment of underrepresented groups in the UC graduate business schools. To support this effort, students who successfully complete the program will receive a one or two-year full tuition and fee fellowship if they are admitted into a UC graduate business program.

The 2021 summer program will be hosted by UC Riverside’s Anderson Graduate School of Management from May 16th – May 27th (the 2021 program will be virtual due to COVID-19). Students are encouraged to apply from all fields of study, but must have an interest in attending a graduate business program. The application link is located on our website, and the deadline to apply is Monday, December 21st at 11:59 PM (Pacific Standard Time).

Fashion Scholarship Fund (see Fellowship Folder)

When we spoke last, I mentioned that the FSF is in partnership with Virgil Abloh’s “Post-Modern” Scholarship Fund. Attached for your review, you will find the Frequently Asked Questions about Virgil’s Scholarship. We are excited to share with you that the Fashion Scholarship Fund will host a virtual event with Virgil Abloh, exclusively for our HBCU’s on November 17th at 6:00 PM EST. Please mark your calendars and we will be sending you a digital invitation that you can share with your students and faculty members.
Apple HBCU Program

The Apple HBCU Program is designed for a range of student majors. This year, in addition to other majors and concentrations, Apple is doing special outreach to MBA students for internship opportunities within the retail business at Apple. Within the program, students are able to benefit through hands-on professional skill development including the following components:

- Participation in an Apple immersive experience in the Spring of 2021.
- Participation in a 12-week paid internship with Apple in the Summer of 2021.
- Being awarded a $15,000 scholarship award to help defray the cost of college attendance.
- Benefit from professional development activities to enhance their skill-set.
- Receive ongoing coaching and mentorship through being paired with an Apple employee mentor.

This is a valuable experience for students to be exposed to the industry and allow you all to utilize the skills you have developed in the classroom. To be eligible, MBA students must be first-year students. Also, Apple is open to a variety of MBA concentrations.
